A Note from Private Luxury Collection

We are selective about what we present to our clients. Private Luxury Collection is an advisory practice, not a property portal. We do not distribute developer brochures. We identify opportunities, conduct due diligence, and present what we believe merits serious consideration to the qualified buyers and professional advisors in our network.

ENTREÁGUAS MILAGRES is one of those opportunities.

We identified this development through our partnership with a specialist Brazilian real estate entity, and after reviewing the developer credentials, the legal and ownership framework, the market data, and the management structure, we accepted the exclusive European mandate to present it to a select group of European buyers.

This document is the product of that due diligence. It is designed to give you — and your legal and financial advisors — everything you need to evaluate this opportunity properly, ask the right questions, and make an informed decision.

We have tried to be thorough and honest, including about what is not yet confirmed and what requires further information from the developer. Where information is outstanding, we say so clearly. We will not ask you to make a decision on the basis of unconfirmed data.

We remain your European point of contact from this first conversation through to post-completion ownership. If you have questions at any stage — before, during, or after any commitment — you call us.

The destination

São Miguel dos Milagres · Costa dos Corais · Alagoas, Brazil

São Miguel dos Milagres is not a destination that needs to be invented. It already exists — beloved by Brazil's most discerning domestic travellers, increasingly recognised by international visitors, and now entering the consciousness of the international luxury property market. What it has not yet had is a structured access point for European buyers. ENTREÁGUAS MILAGRES changes that.

The natural environment

- Costa dos Corais — the second largest coral reef system in the world, forming a natural protective barrier that creates the calm, crystalline waters Milagres is known for.
- Natural tide pools: when the tide recedes, a network of natural pools forms along the coastline — calm, warm, crystal-clear, and safe for all ages. A completely natural feature that no development can manufacture.
- The Tatuamunha River — ~~known for its wooden bridge,~~ spectacular sunsets, jangada boat trips, and the rare opportunity to observe manatees in their natural habitat.
- Patacho Beach — the only Blue Flag certified beach in Alagoas. Blue Flag is the international standard for water quality, environmental management, safety, and services. It is the only beach in Alagoas to hold this certification.
- Year-round warmth and sunshine — Alagoas has one of Brazil's most consistent climates. This is not a seasonal destination.

The cultural identity

- Portugal offers extraordinary quality of life, but it is not frictionless. The buyers who do best here are sMarceneiro Village — traditional local craftsmanship, lace-making (the intricate tradition of Alagoas), authentic cuisine, and a pace of life that sophisticated travellers actively seek out.
- The Chapel of Miracles — a historic landmark that gives the Milagres Route its name and its spiritual character. A destination with history and depth.
- Local gastronomy — fresh seafood, traditional northeastern dishes, beachside bars and restaurants serving time-honoured recipes. Not a manufactured resort food scene — the real thing.
- elective, patient, and well-advised.

The Milagres Route

The Rota dos Milagres spans approximately 23 km of coastline and includes ten beaches along one of Alagoas' most beautiful coastal stretches: Porto de Pedras, Praia do Patacho, Praia de Lajes, Praia de Tatuamunha, Porto da Rua, Porto do Toque, Praia de São Miguel dos Milagres, Porto do Riacho, Porto do Marceneiro, and Praia da Barra de Camaragibe. The entire route falls within the Environmental Protection Area of Costa dos Corais — a designation that permanently restricts future development supply.

Market position and trajectory

- Ranked 8th most searched Northeast destination on Google in March 2025 — 51,000 searches in a single month (Conversion Agency, April 2025).
- Foreign tourist arrivals up 65.3% in the first two months of 2025 versus the same period in 2024.
- Already Brazil's luxury domestic hotspot — major celebrations, New Year's Eve gatherings, and the favoured destination of Brazil's celebrity community. Actress Glória Pires owns a compound in São Miguel dos Milagres with a rental rate of approximately R$8,000 per day.
- Infrastructure investment accelerating: new coastal road reducing travel time to the region by up to 30 minutes; Costa dos Corais Airport in Maragogi (25 km) under rapid development; Maceió Airport (114 km); Recife Airport (147 km); new Porto Calvo Hospital with 113 beds across multiple departments.

WHY THIS MATTERS FOR A EUROPEAN BUYER

The destination is past the point of being a discovery — it is validated. What it has not yet had is the international recognition and infrastructure that will accelerate values further. That combination of a proven destination and an approaching inflection point is the investment opportunity.

The supply constraint argument

São Miguel dos Milagres sits within the Environmental Protection Area of Costa dos Corais — the second largest coral reef in the world. This designation places permanent restrictions on the volume and nature of future development that can be built in the area. Supply is structurally constrained. Against a backdrop of rapidly growing domestic and international demand, that equation can only move values in one direction.

ENTREÁGUAS MILAGRES is one of the largest approved developments in this protected zone. Its freshwater lagoon technology, design credentials, and beach club scale are features that could not be replicated today even if a new developer wished to build — the regulatory environment makes it effectively unique.

A NOTE ON YIELD FIGURES

The figures above (up to 15%, total returns up to 27%) reflect independently published data for the São Miguel dos Milagres market. We will provide confirmed, programme-specific figures once they are received and verified. We do not quote unconfirmed yield projections to buyers.

HOW TO READ THESE FIGURES FOR A EUROPEAN BUYER

At 70% occupancy, a Beach House investor receives approximately R$59,802 net per month before Brazilian income tax (IRRF 15% for non-residents). At current EUR/BRL exchange rates (approximately R$6 to €1), this is broadly equivalent to €8,300–€10,000 net per month — on a purchase price of approximately €730,000. These are ENINOVA's official projections based on the market daily rate of R$4,900 and the confirmed fee structure. They are not guaranteed returns.

PLC NOTE ON RENTAL PROJECTIONS

The figures above are drawn from ENINOVA's official Modelo Lucxo projection document for ENTREÁGUAS MILAGRES. They represent projected returns based on a confirmed daily rate of R$4,900 and a confirmed fee structure. They are not guaranteed returns — actual returns will depend on achieved occupancy and operational costs. Buyers should treat the 70%–80% occupancy scenarios as aspirational benchmarks rather than conservative projections, and seek independent financial advice on how Brazilian rental income is treated in their country of residence.

Legal ownership

How a European buyer owns property in Brazil

One of the most common questions from European buyers considering a Brazilian property is a fundamental one: can I actually own this, and how? The answer is straightforward — but it requires understanding a legal framework that differs from the EU. This section explains it clearly.

Direct foreign ownership — the basic position

Brazil permits full, direct ownership of real estate by foreign nationals. There is no restriction on non-residents purchasing property in Brazil. This right is protected under both Brazilian civil law and the Brazilian constitution. A European citizen can buy property in Brazil in exactly the same way a Brazilian citizen can — with the same rights of ownership, use, rental, sale, and inheritance.

The Brazilian equivalent of freehold — escritura pública

Brazilian property law uses the concept of plena propriedade — full ownership — evidenced by an escritura pública (public deed) registered at the local cartório (notary and property registry). This is the functional equivalent of freehold ownership: absolute, transferable, and inheritable. The escritura pública is the legal title document. All Brazilian property ownership is recorded in the Registro de Imóveis (public property register), which is publicly searchable and verified by a Brazilian lawyer as part of standard conveyancing.

Purchase structure options for European buyers

Structure	Description and considerations
Direct personal purchase	The buyer purchases in their own name as an individual. Straightforward and most common for residential purchases. Subject to Brazilian personal income tax on rental income and capital gains tax on disposal.
Brazilian corporate vehicle	Purchase through a Brazilian limited company (LTDA or SA). Can offer tax efficiency depending on the buyer's circumstances and the volume of rental income. Requires registration and ongoing compliance in Brazil.
Portuguese corporate vehicle	Purchase through a Portuguese entity. Possible but more complex — requires careful structuring for Brazilian registration and tax purposes. Recommended only with specialist cross-border tax advice.

PLC does not provide tax advice. We strongly recommend that all buyers take advice from both a qualified Brazilian lawyer and their own tax advisor in their country of residence before selecting a purchase structure. We can provide introductions to appropriate advisors on request.

The Brazilian lawyer

Every buyer of ENTREÁGUAS MILAGRES should retain an independent Brazilian lawyer — separate from the developer's legal team — to conduct due diligence on the title, review the purchase contract, advise on the legal structure, and oversee the transfer of ownership. The developer can provide a recommended firm. PLC's Brazilian partner can also provide introductions to qualified independent counsel.

The lawyer will review and confirm: title is clear and free of encumbrances, the incorporation registration is in order (confirmed: R-1, registration no. 5,648), the purchase contract terms are standard and lawful, and the transfer process is correctly executed.

Consumer protection for off-plan buyers

Off-plan buyers in Brazil are protected under Lei 4.591/1964 (the Incorporação Imobiliária law) and the Código de Defesa do Consumidor (Consumer Protection Code). These provide statutory rights including: clear disclosure of all development terms (confirmed in the incorporation memorandum), legal remedies in the event of developer default, and in some incorporation structures, ring-fenced construction accounts. Your Brazilian lawyer will confirm which specific protections apply to this development's structure.

PLC DUE DILIGENCE CONFIRMATION

PLC has reviewed the incorporation registration for ENTREÁGUAS MILAGRES and confirmed it is legally registered (R-1, registration no. 5,648, Porto de Pedras/AL). A detailed legal summary prepared by our Brazilian partner is available on request for buyers and their advisors.

Financial transaction mechanics

Moving money to and from Brazil · What every European buyer needs to know

Brazil has a specific regulatory framework governing the movement of foreign capital into and out of the country. It is more structured than buying in Europe — but it is transparent, well-established, and designed to protect foreign investors as much as to regulate them. Understanding it removes the uncertainty.

Sending money to Brazil — BACEN registration

Foreign capital entering Brazil for real estate investment must be registered with the Banco Central do Brasil (BACEN) through the ROF system (Registro de Operações Financeiras). This is not a restriction on the movement of money — it is the mechanism that legally entitles you to repatriate your capital, rental income, and sale proceeds in the future. Without this registration, repatriation is not legally protected. With it, your rights are fully established in Brazilian law.

Registration is a standard part of the purchase process handled by your Brazilian lawyer and/or the receiving bank in Brazil. It is not complex, but it must be done correctly and at the right stage of the transaction.

Currency — EUR to BRL

rate fluctuates and should be treated as it would with any non-EUR international asset — as a factor to monitor and manage, not a dealbreaker. Options available to buyers include using a specialist FX service to convert EUR to BRL at the time of each payment, or discussing hedging strategies with their wealth advisor.

Historically, BRL depreciation against EUR has in many periods been offset or exceeded by Brazilian coastal property price appreciation in local currency terms. However, buyers should not rely on this pattern continuing and should take independent FX advice appropriate to their circumstances.

Receiving rental income in Europe

Once foreign capital is registered with BACEN, rental income earned on the property can be legally repatriated to the owner's European bank account. The ENINOVA management programme handles income distribution. Rental income earned in Brazil by a non-resident is subject to Brazilian withholding tax (IRRF) at a flat rate of 15% on gross rental income — this is deducted at source by the management operator before distribution. The net income after this deduction is what is transferred to the owner.

Buyers should seek advice from their own tax advisor regarding how Brazilian-source rental income is treated in their country of residence — whether it gives rise to additional tax, credits for tax already paid in Brazil, or reporting obligations.

Repatriating capital on sale

When a property is sold, the proceeds up to the original registered foreign capital amount can be repatriated in full. Any additional gain (profit on the original investment, in BRL) can also be repatriated, subject to Brazilian capital gains tax. The CGT rate in Brazil for non-residents ranges from 15% to 22.5% depending on the amount of the gain. Full repatriation of registered foreign investment is legally protected under Brazilian law.

Property registration fees	Buyer's responsibility — Registro de Imóveis. Included in cartório costs above.

Condominium fee	R$3,588 per month — confirmed from ENINOVA projections. Commences from completion.
Insurance — MIP (death and permanent disability)	Buyer's responsibility to arrange — required if bank financing is used for the saldo.
Utility connection fees	Buyer's responsibility at unit delivery — costs vary.
FX conversion costs	Variable — specialist FX provider recommended over retail bank. Material saving on transactions of this size.

TOTAL ACQUISITION COST GUIDANCE

As a working assumption for budgeting purposes, European buyers should plan for total acquisition costs (ITBI, cartório, registration, legal fees) of approximately 5%–8% above the purchase price, plus ongoing monthly costs of approximately R$5,059 per month (condominium R$3,588 + IPTU R$1,471) from completion. These monthly costs are typically recovered within the rental programme. Optional kits (rooftop, pool) should be budgeted separately if selected.

Private Luxury Collection's role - and our Brazilian partners

Understanding who does what — and when — is important for buyers navigating a cross-border transaction. This section sets it out clearly.

Private Luxury Collection (PLC)	Exclusive European mandate holder. Buyer identification and qualification in Europe. Advisory conversations with buyers and their advisors. Due diligence review and Buyer Confidence Pack preparation. Presentation of the development through all PLC channels (events, intermediary network, direct client outreach, digital). Warm handoff of qualified buyers to Brazilian partner. Ongoing European point of contact throughout ownership journey. Post-sale communication — construction updates, rental programme onboarding, yield reporting liaison.
Brazilian partner (ABCNI)	On-the-ground mediation and relationship management in Brazil. Liaison between PLC, qualified buyers, and the developer. Introduction to Brazilian legal counsel. Support with BACEN registration process. Facilitation of site visits. Ongoing Brazilian-market support for buyers post-purchase.
Adamo Desenvolvimento Imobiliário	Developer and project entity (ADAMO SPE 1 LTDA). Responsible for construction, delivery, incorporation, and all contractual obligations to buyers. Sales terms, payment schedule, and deed process all governed by the developer.
NovaSan LTDA	Construction company. Responsible for physical delivery of the development to specification and timeline.

ENINOVA Hotels Experience	Management operator. Responsible for hotel services, rental programme, guest experience, owner services, and rental income distribution from completion.
Buyer's Brazilian lawyer	Independent legal representation for the buyer. Due diligence, contract review, BACEN registration, conveyancing, title transfer. Essential and independent from all other parties — the buyer's own representation in Brazil.
Buyer's home-country tax advisor	Advice on the treatment of Brazilian-source income and CGT in the buyer's country of residence. PLC does not provide tax advice — introductions available on request.

OUR COMMITMENT TO BUYERS

We stay involved. We do not introduce buyers to a developer and step back. From your first conversation with us to the day you receive your first rental income statement, Private Luxury Collection is your European point of contact. If you have a problem, a question, or a concern at any stage — before or after purchase — you call us. That is the proposition.

Next steps

We have structured the process to be as clear and manageable as possible. There is no pressure to move at any particular pace — we want buyers who are well-informed and confident. Here is how the process works.

Step	Description
1 — Advisory conversation	A structured 45–60 minute conversation with PLC to walk through this Buyer Confidence Pack, answer your questions, understand your objectives and purchase profile, and identify which unit type best fits your requirements.
2 — Advisor review	We recommend sharing this document with your legal and financial advisors. PLC can brief them directly if useful. Our Brazilian partner is available for a technical call with any advisor who requires it.
3 — Unit selection	Based on your objectives and budget, we identify the most appropriate unit type — Beach House or Beach Lake — and provide the current pricing and payment schedule.
4 — Site visit (optional but recommended)	We organise a small, curated group visit to ENTREÁGUAS MILAGRES for qualified buyers. Travel costs are met by the buyer; we handle all logistics and on-the-ground hosting in partnership with our Brazilian partner. This is a closing step, not a casual
5 — Reservation and legal engagement	Once a buyer decides to proceed, a reservation is placed with the developer. Simultaneously, the buyer engages their independent Brazilian lawyer for due diligence and contract review.
6 — Contract and deposit	Subject to satisfactory legal due diligence, the purchase contract is signed and the initial deposit is paid. Payment structure and deed date to be confirmed with developer.
7 — Stage payments and completion	Payments made according to the agreed schedule. PLC provides regular construction progress updates throughout. On completion, title transfers via escritura pública registered at the cartório.
8 — Rental programme onboarding	ENINOVA manages the onboarding of your unit into the rental programme. PLC liaises on any queries or issues throughout this process.
